

Comment from a beta tester, Marianne G. "Wow, I can go this fast!" First time, first session!!
"It's very easy - I didn't think it would be this easy - so fast so quick."

Email from a customer,

"...since delivered I have been practising sic the device. It took me more time then your average test-persons to learn all alpha-characters by heart, I guess around 4 hours continuous practice. It took also quit(e) sic some time to practise sic the best way to keep it in my hand. Every time I switch position I am totally disoriented again, but strange enough switching hands didn't give any trouble at all. It looks for me the best way is to keep it in my left hand with my arm and hand resting on my belly. I like the device very much, it's much more relaxed then a regular keyboard."

This was chorded during the first 30 minutes of using an EkaPad, by a 12 year old, while sitting in his mom's booth at a farmers' market.

my name is jacob. i like cheese and crayfish.

start a new line right here. she baught ten pumpkins at the farmersmarket. she is going to carve them at halloween and scare little kids. im not going to her house to trick or treat ever. Good thing that I don't live in her neighborhood!

The people that are next to me sell bread. I'm eating kettlecorn at the farmersmarket.
